U.S. High Court Justice Holds Key To Racial Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Charles Evans Whittaker may hold the answer to whether racial integration must be resumed at Little Rock's Central High School when it reopens Sept. 2.

But the answer will not come before next Thursday, probably later.

It was uncertain whether Whittaker would rule alone, or with other members of the nine-man court.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People Friday asked Whittaker for an order removing all legal barriers to immediate re-entry of Negro pupils into Central High, a focal point in the far-ranging integration controversy.

The NAACP action seeks, in part, to set aside an order of the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis that would delay integration at the Arkansas high school until the Supreme Court has ruled on the main issues in the case.

The petition was directed to Whittaker because the full court is in summer recess, until Oct. 6, and he has jurisdiction over the Eighth Circuit, which includes Arkansas.

With Whittaker on his way to Los Angeles, Thurgood Marshall of New York, an attorney for the NAACP, filed the petition with the office of the Supreme Court clerk.

The court's deputy clerk, Edmund P. Cullinan, Friday night sent the petition via air mail special delivery to Whittaker in Los Angeles, where the justice plans to attend the American Bar Assn. convention.

Whittaker, who had been in touch with the clerk's office earlier in the day, directed that attorneys for the Little Rock school board be advised they have until noon next Thursday, Pacific Coast Time, to file papers in opposition.

Marshall mailed copies of the NAACP petition to the school board even before he filed it with the Supreme Court.

During a train stop at Ogden, Utah, Whittaker said he will have to examine the NAACP documents before deciding what he will do.

Basically, what the NAACP is asking is quick nullification of a June 21 order of U.S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark., suspending integration at Central High for 2½ years.

The Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals last Monday reversed Judge Lemley by a 6-1 vote.

On Wednesday, the Court of Appeals stayed effectiveness of its ruling until the Supreme Court acts on an appeal of the Little Rock school board. The school board was given 30 days in which to petition the high court for a review.

Marshall asked Whittaker to set aside the stay. Even if Whittaker should grant this request, there would not be enough time left to dispose of the legal formalities before reopening of Central High a week from next Tuesday.

So Marshall asked Whittaker to vacate Lemley's order granting the 2½ year delay.

Should this be done, the effect would be to put back in force at once an earlier order for integration at Central High.

Meanwhile, in Little Rock, registration for the coming school term got under way Friday on an all-white basis.

Arkansas' Gov. Orval Faubus was keeping the state legislature on standby alert for a possible emergency session. There has been speculation the legislature might close Central High to avoid another possible showdown like the one last year in which President Eisenhower sent troops to enforce court-ordered integration there.

In Norfolk, Va., Federal District Judge Walter E. Hoffman told a city attorney that if the Supreme Court permits a 2½ year delay in integration at Little Rock's Central High, he will not order Norfolk schools integrated.

Ohio Hog Market Drops Sharply as Pork Demand Dips

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Prices paid for market hogs averaged $1.65 per 100 pounds less than last week at $20.50 per 100 pounds, a weekly summary of interior Ohio livestock markets showed today.

The Bureau of Markets of the Ohio Department of Agriculture reported Monday's opening price was 50 cents lower than the previous week's close, and a 50 cent decline on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and Friday's price and close for the week at $19.75 for No. 2 butchers.

The heavy runs on western terminal markets coupled with the poor demand for the fresh pork products have caused the sharply reduced prices for this week, the report said.

Backs Ban

Youths Win Top Awards As Plowmen

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Two rugged farm youths with a talent for cutting a wide, deep furrow reigned from the pinnacle of American plowdom today.

Their victories in the 16th National Plowing Contest were a tribute to youth.

George W. Lininger, of Springfield, R.D. 2, Mich., wound up as the winner of the level land plowing contest Friday. The bashful, 21-year-old dairy farmer was the youngest ever to win this national event.

His triumph came the day after Charles L. Stamp, 23, Watkins Glen, N. Y., fruit grower, grabbed top honors in contour plowing. He was the second most youthful farmer to ever wind up as America's premier plowman.

Both will represent the United States in the world championships in Northern Ireland next year.

Clad in dungarees and a bright blue and white plaid shirt, Lininger was a picture of surprise when judges broke the news of his triumph.

"I was surprised to win" he said with a happy grin. "It was just plain luck."

His furrow work on a half-acre plot brought him 370 points out of a possible 400. The runnerup was David H. Bay, 30, a dairy farmer from Canandaigua, R. D. 1, Ontario County, N. Y.

Some 100,000 farmers and other onlookers turned out for the second and final day of the plowing contests and soil conservation exposition. The first day crowd on Thursday was estimated at about 90,000.

Ike Claims Defense Fund Is Too Large

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, with a critical blast at Congress for giving him more than he wanted, has signed the $39,602,827,000 defense appropriation bill.

In a statement accompanying his signing of the measure Friday, Eisenhower criticized Congress for giving him more than one billion dollars above the amount he said he feels is necessary to maintain the nation's security.

2. Placing mandatory minimum strengths on the Army's reserve components.

Eisenhower said the mandatory floors for the reserve forces introduced rigidity into the defense structure and would make it hard to follow the flexible course recently approved by Congress in the Defense Reorganization Act.

"Moreover," Eisenhower said, "such restrictions are wasteful of money and resources at a time when essential programs are placing mounting demands on both."

The bill provides money to maintain 2,580,000 uniformed regulars, 300,000 Army reserves and a National Guard averaging 400,000 men. In each instance, the levels topped those proposed by Eisenhower for this fiscal year ending June 30. Eisenhower could impound money for manpower levels bigger than he wanted.

The Air Force will get $17,877,624,000, compared with a requested $17,652,854,000; the Army $8,992,859,000, compared with $8,953,535,000; the Navy and Marine Corps, $11,359,427,000, compared with $10,870,181,000 requested.

Today Is Final, Hectic Day For Adjourning Congress

U. S. Officials Expect Red OK On Ike's Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials predicted today Russia probably will accept President Eisenhower's proposal to start negotiations Oct. 31 on a worldwide system to prevent sneak nuclear weapons tests.

Eisenhower offered Friday to suspend U.S. nuclear tests for at least one year, provided such negotiations got under way.

His only other condition was that Russia continue its 4½-month halt in Soviet tests. The Russians announced the halt after completing a test series.

In a statement and a note to the Kremlin, Eisenhower called for talks in New York under United Nations auspices. Results would be reported through Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to the U.N. General Assembly and the Security Council.

In Russia, radio Moscow and the Tass news agency reported Eisenhower's proposal without comment. There was no comment from Soviet officials.

In Congress, both Republicans and Democrats voiced praise for the offer.

But Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) objected strongly to a part of the Eisenhower statement that left the way open for resumption of tests unless, among other things, there was satisfactory progress toward disarmament. Holifield said such a condition could kill the plan.

U.S. officials said their expectation of Soviet acceptance was based primarily on results of a seven-week Geneva meeting of scientists from the United States, Russia and six other countries on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The scientists agreed it was technically possible to create a worldwide system of inspection stations, reportedly about 180, to make sure nobody cheated on any agreement to ban nuclear tests.

Britain also offered to suspend its tests after a projected series is completed this fall, and to participate in detailed diplomatic talks to set up the monitoring system conceived by the scientists at Geneva.

It was learned authoritatively that this was the thinking behind the Eisenhower proposal.

An end to nuclear tests is no disarmament measure in itself. But it may provide an opening wedge to achieve genuine disarmament. Eisenhower said U.S. tests might be resumed after one year unless a monitoring system was ripening and unless there were prospects of agreement on such disarmament measures as a cut-off in nuclear production, reduction in atomic-hydrogen stockpiles and troop cutbacks.

State Fair Sees Kids Mob Singer, O'Neill Sell Chicken

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Visitors to the 104th Ohio State Fair will be pleased to learn that:

1. Tommy Sands is still in one piece, and;

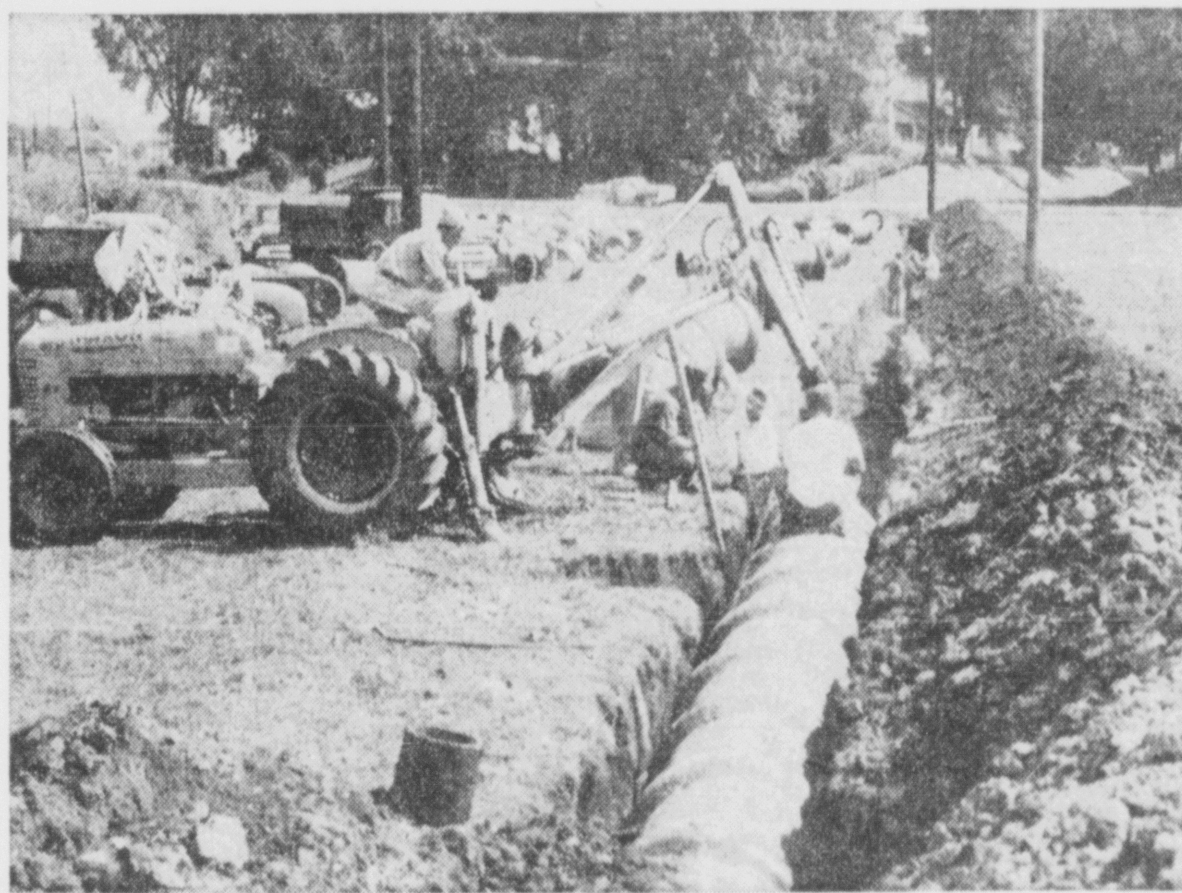

2. Gov. C. William O'Neill sold the chickens at $4.35 a pound.

Little else is clear except that the 17,826 paid fairgoers at Friday's opening of the buckeye state annual exposition apparently had the time of their life.

Sands' predicament started when a howling horde of teen-agers, most of them female, broke through the south fence and rushed to the foot of the grand stand area where their young idol was doing his guitar-strumming, hip-twisting, singing act.

Then later in the afternoon, while Sands was trying to catch 40 winks between shows, the teen-agers mobbed Harrison House, hoping for a glimpse of him.

About O'Neill and the chickens: The state's chief executive showed his auctioneering ability by selling ten prize winning chickens at $4.35 a pound. The auction came after Cecil Nelson, 17, of Langsville, won the Chicken of Tomorrow contest with ten vantage cross broilers that weighed 38 pounds. O'Neill's salesmanship brought Cecil $165.30, the highest price on record.

High St. Sewer Project in Full Swing

CITY CREWS have started laying the 30-inch tile for the new High St. relief sewer which will be 1,127 feet long. The sewer, first to be built here since WPA days, is expected to relieve bad drainage conditions that exist in the Belle Aire area as well as provide an adequate sewer outlet for the new Belle Aire school. This is only the first leg of a relief sewer planned for this area. City voters will pass on a 2-mill levy for sewer purposes this fall. The levy is designed to replace an expiring 2-mill street levy and will not, consequently, increase taxes.

Jordan Hints New Ties with Nasser

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Premier Samir Rifai said today Jordan would be willing to consider resuming diplomatic relations with the United Arab Republic if President Nasser takes the initiative.

Rifai also indicated he was willing to meet Nasser, who has been accused by Jordan of attempting to overthrow the Jordan government and assassinate King Hussein.

The premier's conciliatory statements at a news conference came amid other indications that long-frozen relations between Jordan and the U. A. R. were warming up. Friendly messages were exchanged with the U. A. R.-dominated Arab League and prospects were seen for reopening of Jordan's border with the U. A. R. province of Syria.

Bridge Opening Matter of Hours

If there is no rain Saturday, the reconstruction of Route 22 bridge a mile west of New Holland, will be open to traffic this week-end.

William Markley, superintendent of highways here, said that the repair work should be finished today.

The bridge, which has been under repair for the past two weeks was heavily damaged Aug. 6, when a semi-trailer truck smashed into one corner of it.

Since then, traffic has been rerouted around the damaged span.

Lake Michigan Diversion Bill Hits Sharp Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foes of increased Lake Michigan diversion appeared today to be winning their fight to keep the measure from coming to a vote before Congress adjourns.

The bill to permit increased diversion from the lake by Chicago was laid aside by the Senate shortly before midnight Friday night in favor of two major appropriations bills. Debate had started earlier.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said "there is great danger that the bill will be filibustered to death" if all major legislation is completed before resuming debate on the bill. His protests were shouted down on a voice vote.

Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio), a foe of the measure, retorted "it will be for the good of the country if it is talked to death."

Many Major Matters Still Face Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — This promised to be a hectic day for Congress as it drove to wind up its nearly eight-month session.

Foreign aid topped an imposing array of matters still to be acted on before the legislators can call it quits for this year. Leaders were hoping for adjournment of the second session of the 85th Congress by sometime tonight.

Items awaiting action included legislation dealing with the national debt limit, federal aid to education, renegotiation of government defense contracts, benefit payments to retired railroad workers, the government's security program and appropriations measures.

As if these weren't enough, a last minute drive developed to try to push through a trimmed down 800-million-dollar federal housing and community facilities bill. Legislation introduced by Sens. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) and J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) combined two measures passed by the Senate earlier in the year, but which met defeat in the House.

Housing Administrator Albert Cole said the revised bill was unacceptable to the Eisenhower administration and could hardly be regarded as a serious effort to reach agreement on sound housing legislation this year.

The 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid money bill had top priority in the Senate, where a final fight was in the offing over proposals to make new cuts. Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) said he planned a two-hour speech in support of amendments to trim the measure by 150 million dollars.

The House has passed an aid money bill totaling $3,078,000,000. Both House and Senate made considerable progress Friday.

The Senate voted a temporary eight-billion-dollar hike in the federal debt limit to a peacetime level of 288 billion dollars. The bill was passed 57-20 after proceedings were stalled by a two-hour speech in which Sen. George W. Malone (R-Nev.) decried what he said was America's attempt to "support the world."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said the Senate had to go along with the administration's request to raise the debt ceiling because the government faces a 12-billion-dollar deficit this year.

However, Byrd succeeded in tacking on an amendment whereby the administration would have to appear before Congress again next year for a new look at the debt problem.

The Senate bill would authorize a permanent ceiling of 283 billion dollars, with a temporary hike to 288 billion through June 30, 1959.

The measure was returned to the House, whose version called for a 285-billion-dollar permanent limit and a ceiling of 288 billion through June 30, 1960.

The permanent debt ceiling now is 275 billions, with a temporary top of 280 billions.

The Senate passed two other measures and sent them back to the House.

One was a compromise providing for a four-year, 900-million-dollar program of federal aid to education, heavily accented toward science and mathematics.

The other was a stopgap six-month extension of an act permitting the government to renegotiate defense contracts. This act carries authority for recovery of excessive profits and reduction of prices on military hardware.

Brothers Suffer Duplicate Injuries

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Robert Poore, 24, suffered head and arm injuries today when a car in which he was riding hit a pole.

His brother, Harvey, 29, was summoned to Johns Hopkins Hospital, where Robert was taken.

En route home from the hospital, a car in which Harvey was riding hit a pole. He received head and arm injuries and was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Both were reported in satisfactory condition.

Norway Shuns Dispute Over A-Sub 'Danger'

BERGEN, Norway (AP)—Norway's second-largest city prepared a hearty welcome today for the USS Skate amid foreign controversy on whether nuclear-powered vessels are safe in heavily populated areas.

Britain joined Denmark in saying they should be kept away from large cities because a collision or similar accident might endanger the populations.

But the man who built the only atomic submarines afloat, U.S. Rear Adm. Hyman Rickover, said they are designed to avoid all possible accidents, including collisions.

The argument was started by Denmark Thursday. It refused to let the Skate visit Copenhagen for fear of a collision or similar accident.

The seafaring Norwegians, who are working on an atomic-powered cargo ship, lined up an army band and a navy detachment on the dock to greet the Skate on its first landing after poking around in the ice under the North Pole.

Both Defense Minister Nils Handal and the navy chief, Adm. P. J. E. Jacobsen, planned to come up from Oslo for the occasion. After calling at this west coast fishing and shipping center, the Skate is scheduled to visit Oslo, Norway's capital and largest city, for two days.

The visit was confirmed after Norwegian nuclear experts met with government officials. A naval source called the Danish action utter nonsense, a view also expressed by some Copenhagen newspapers.

Two health inspectors from the Norwegian Directorate of Public Health were standing by to contact the Skate's health officer before the sub got close to land. This had been planned before Denmark's statement.

Danish History Shows Caution on New Ideas

COPENHAGEN (AP) — The Danish government decision to bar the U.S. atomic submarine Skate from Copenhagen's harbor is not the first instance when a newfangled vessel has caused alarm among Danish authorities.

In 1819, harbor officials told the skipper of the first steamship to visit Copenhagen, the Caledonia, to put out the fire under the boilers before he entered the harbor and let the vessel be towed to dock.

Rich Boy, 12, Provides His Own Requiem

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The poor little rich boy provided his own requiem — a simple poem of faith.

The lad was Timothy Getty, 12-year-old son of oil multimillionaire J. Paul Getty, said by some to be America's richest man.

Timothy's poem was read at his funeral Friday. Somehow it brightened the little Church of the Flowers in a way adult speakers could not.

Getty himself did not attend. His former wife, Mrs. Louise Dudley Lynch Getty, the boy's mother, was present.

Timothy was a friendly, outgoing boy, a bit on the philosophical side, perhaps because of illness. He underwent several operations for a brain tumor.

The highlight of the Christian Science rites was the reading of Timothy's poem:

"God protects me through the night.

"God will help me each fight.

"Because His love is oh, so dear,

"I know in God I cannot fear.

"God will show me, day by day,

"If I follow in His way."

Research Work To Be Featured On 'Swine Day'

Jeff Pig Producer To Conduct Panel Session at Wooster

Plans for Swine Day Sept. 5 at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station have been completed, according to Director L. L. Rummell. A number of Fayette County men plan to attend.

This year the program features tours of research work at the W. L. Robinson Swine Research Center in the morning and panel discussions intermingled with question-and-answer periods in the afternoon.

Experiments to be discussed involve the use of feed additives for pigs on deep litter and on concrete, different levels of phosphorus for pigs in dry lot and the influence of a low level of stilbestrol on barrow performance. Stilbestrol has been widely used in the cattle industry but in hogs the hormone has had a limited use.

OTHER RESEARCHERS will discuss pelleted feeds, feed additives for pigs on pasture, and hygroscopic and piperazine phosphate for worming pigs.

Current Ohio research has shown that sexes of swine differ in carcass characteristics. Findings from this study will be reported.

Bob Owens, Jeffersonville Duroc breeder and chairman of the Research and Education Committee of the Ohio Swine Council, will preside at the afternoon program. The panels will be on multiple farrowing and transmissible gastroenteritis, a serious virus disease of hogs.

Women attending Swine Day will be taken on a tour of the flower gardens and Secret Arboretum, an 80-acre wooded beauty spot at the experiment station.

Swine Day will begin at 10 a. m. EST. Visitors can reach the swine research center by driving six miles east of Wooster on Route 30, then turning right on Wayne County Road 44. It can also be reached by turning left off of Route 250 onto Road 44.

4-H Livestock Entries Heavy At State Fair

COLUMBUS — Ohio 4-H Club members are showing nearly 1,800 head of cattle, hogs and sheep at the State Fair this year.

Junior fair entries by 4-H club members are considerably higher than last year in virtually every livestock classification, records show.

Dairy cattle top the entry list, with 4-H boys and girls planning to exhibit nearly 765 head, 100 more than a year ago. The youngsters brought 96 beef cattle to the fair, compared to 65 last year.

SWINE ENTRIES in the junior fair's 4-H division include 70 animals in breed classifications, 95 market pigs and 61 pens of three. The 4-H'ers will show 395 sheep in breed classifications, 63 market lambs, 37 pens of three and 5 commercial flocks. A special tent has been erected west of the sheep barn this year to house sheep to be exhibited by 4-H members.

Market lambs and barrows shown by 4-H and FFA exhibitors will be sold Saturday evening in the sheep and swine barns. Steers entered in the junior division will be judged Tuesday and sold Wednesday evening.

A 4-H and FFA junior wool judging contest is set for Tuesday evening, junior and senior finals in the sheep shearing contest for Thursday evening and junior sheep trimming and blocking contests for Friday morning, Aug. 29.

Cattle Guard Keeps 'Em Home Out West

These steers stay shy of electrified cattle guard, at right.

By VANCE ORCHARD
Central Press Assn.

WALLA WALLA, Wash. — The history of the West would be rewritten if Ernie Wells had invented his newly-patented cattle guard earlier. Cowboys aren't needed to ride herd on the livestock and rustling would be a highly discouraging proposition.

Wells had been making money with his chrome mine in the nearby mountain town of Joseph.

A lot of this money has been invested in fine cattle. Ernie just couldn't stand the idea of playing a half dozen cowboys to stand guard over his valuable stock.

Wells' inventive ingenuity went to work and came up with the contraption which is going into mass production three factories in the northwest.

ERNIE'S INVENTION is basically a wooden frame with 22 strips of elastic (usually rubber) material suspended about four inches above the road surface. The frame is chemically treated to resist rot.

These elastic strips are charged with electricity. There are no pit, concrete piers, or rigid wooden or steel cross members involved.

The rubber strips carry an electric current that is harmless but yet packing enough sting to halt livestock effectively.

Attached to the frame are non-corrosive steel cables, which anchor the frame to the fence line. End barrier wires are attached to the guard frame and fence posts with special insulators.

The strips and barrier wires are activated by a conventional electric fence charger operating from a six-volt battery. All electrical parts are insulated so the entire guard is completely weather-proof.

EASY TO INSTALL and fully portable, the cattle guard can be unpacked and set up and put in working order in 30 minutes, Wells says. The guard can be handily moved from one spot to another, as the need may dictate. Most important in this day of high-priced beef, the guard keeps cattle hemmed in so that the loss through injury and wandering away and even thieving is reduced to a minimum.

Whatever the road bed will hold, the guard will hold. Wells proved it at with trucks. The rubber had qualities of a slower snap-back so that the strips would not catch on the undercarriage of a car or truck.

A short training procedure is recommended with installation of this setup, particularly in cases where there are the usual "problem" animals, as so many farmers and ranchers have.

Once these fractious livestock learn that there is a stinging electrical sting awaiting them when they try to venture outside specified bounds, they become quite amenable and content with the surroundings assigned to them.

Fayette Security Benefits $682,584 Annually

Old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits are being paid in Fayette County at the rate of $682,584 a year, according to E. H. Biedenholz, manager of the Chillicothe Social Security district office.

"Our studies have shown that many of these aged people, widows, and orphans have little or no other resources," he pointed out. "For something like 9 per cent social security benefits, received as an earned right, are the only cash income."

Biedenholz also stressed that while the benefits are intended primarily as basis for individual economic security, the payment of social security benefits at the rate of $682,584 a year in Fayette County helps business generally because most of the money is spent immediately on food, clothing, and other necessities.

"This is especially important in a time of economic recession," he said. "Social Security benefits are being paid nationally at a rate of more than 8 billion dollars annually."

PAYMENTS to a retired worker average about $65 per month, Biedenholz said. The average for a widow with two young children is $145. The maximum payment for a retired couple is $162.80 a month, and the maximum for a family is $200.

"There were several reasons for an increase in benefits over last year," Biedenholz commented. One was the payment of benefits to people who were brought under the law for the first time in recent years—self-employed farmers, for example.

Other reasons for an increase were the reduction in the retirement age to 62 for women and the starting of disability insurance benefits to disabled people 50 or over.

Biedenholz agreed that one factor in the increase may be the business recession. "I'm sure some older people who would have preferred to keep on working have been forced to retire because of the general business conditions," Biedenholz said.

"Also some mothers may be getting survivors insurance benefits for themselves as well as their children because they have lost jobs as a result of the recession."

Many of these people would have been forced to turn to public assistance as soon as they exhausted their unemployment insurance rights, Biedenholz declared. The result would have been a further increase in public welfare costs, costs which are paid out of general taxation.

THE TABLE ABOVE shows the number and amount of each type of benefit being paid in Fayette County:

Beneficiary Group	Number of Beneficiaries	Total of Payments (monthly)
Retired Worker	714	$38,874
Wife or Husband	216	6,360
Widow or Widower	84	4,136
Mothers with Children	34	1,356
Children	152	5,422

For the entire State of Ohio, social security payments at the end of 1957 were being paid to 618,628 beneficiaries at the rate of $35.-732,100 per month.

upturn. Profits from feeding likely will average much narrower in the next feeding season because of higher cost of feeder cattle this year than last. Risk in feeding in 1959 will be greater than last. Risk in feeding in 1959 will be greater than last year, but likely not as great as it will be in the year or two following.

Hogs - Price expected to continue gradual decline through remainder of year and not be greatly different from average levels of last fall. Considerably lower average price expected next year, however.

Egg prices first half of next year may average 10 per cent lower than this spring. This will result from an expected increase of 5 per cent in egg production at that time.

FARM REAL ESTATE values expected to continue long term upward trend and in next 10 years to be substantially above current levels.

Soybeans: Production looks to be up considerably this year. Prices will be influenced by support level. The U. S. average support level for this year's crop is $2.09 per bushel.

Ohio wheat production this year now estimated to be 44 million bushels, according to August crop report. This is 33 per cent above the 33 million bushels last year. Quality is considerably lower in some areas. Wheat yields reported to average 29 bushel per acre this year compared with 22 bushel last year and 25 bushel average.

U. S. hay production estimated 5 per cent below 1957 but 10 per cent larger than average. Ohio crop this year forecast down 9 per cent from last year.

Recent Ohio Weather May 'Save' Farmer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state's agriculture boss thinks the good weather the last few weeks may bail Ohio farmers out of troubles brought on by excessive rainfall.

"If our weather continues as it has in the last two weeks," said Director James Hay, "I personally don't feel that the corn and soybean crops are in any hazard."

"We recognize there are damage areas, but on a statewide basis we cannot construe Ohio as being on the verge of a disaster situation."

He said the wheat and oat harvest has probably been the most difficult of the last 15 years and farmers throughout the state have suffered as a result of the extensive water.

"But looking at the entire state have a very good year," he said. Hay said the first cutting of hay had been virtually lost, but second and third cuttings could go a long way toward making up the deficiency.

In addition, Hay pointed to the fact that many farmers turned their cattle into fields they couldn't harvest, giving animals "the most lush pasture cattle ever had."

— With or Without HYGROMIX —

Creep feed these vitamin packed pellets to young pigs at 5 days of age. Your pigs will reach early weaning at 4 to 5 weeks, maintain rapid growth—and soon be on their profit way to pork chops.

RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS help to grow young pigs in a hurry for this reason: they supplement the sow's milk, and supply additional vitamins and antibiotics which permit the litter to be weaned earlier without setbacks in growth. The high antibiotics and vitamin levels in RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS help prevent scouring, insure against anemia and develop vigor.

Pigs fed RED ROSE PIG STARTER PELLETS grow more uniformly and reach market weights earlier. So, feed these pellets to your pigs. Remember, better pork profits come from better early feeding.

"A RED ROSE FEED FOR EVERY NEED"

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Ever since I was a youngster, I have been intrigued with the story of the famous hoax perpetrated upon the country some 89 years ago by the finding on a farm in Onondago County, N. Y., of what was supposed to be the petrified body of a huge man — the "Cardiff Giant" or "The American Goliath."

Earlier this month I saw the famous "Cardiff Giant" at the Farmers Museum near Coopers-town, N. Y., reposing in a pit similar to that from which it was excavated Oct. 16 1869, to amaze and puzzle some of the best scientists of the day and make its perpetrators rich.

The huge figure is 10 feet 4½ inches in length; from chin to top of head, 21 inches; mouth five inches across; neck 37 inches; shoulders three feet, one inch across; right arm four feet nine inches; foot 21 inches long and weight 2,990 pounds.

The "amazing find" caused P. T. Barnum, famous showman, to offer $60,000 to exhibit the giant one season, but the offer was refused. So Barnum had a replica made and exhibited it.

I had been under the impression that Barnum had planned the hoax, but the authentic story in a booklet issued by the Farmers Museum gives the following story in brief:

George Hull, a tobacco farmer, in 1866, while visiting in Ackley, Iowa, became involved in an argument with a minister on the passage of Scripture which read "There were giants in the earth in those days."

Hull became angry and finally resolved to manufacture such a giant as a practical joke to confound religious extremists and perhaps make some money on the side.

In June, 1868, Hull and another man, went to Fort Dodge, Iowa, and had a block of gypsum 12 by 4 feet quarried. It weighed five tons.

It was shipped by rail to Chicago, and a stone cutter secretly carved out the figure of a man, with head slightly turned, one hand under the body, one foot slightly drawn and "pores" in the "skin" carefully picked into the stone. Sulphuric acid was used to "age" the figure and add realism to the "veins".

It was crated, shipped to Cardiff, N. Y., taken to the farm of William C. Newell, a friend, and at night, buried behind Newell's barn. Hull had expended $2,200 on the "giant".

Nearly a year after the burial, Newell had two men start digging a well where the giant had been buried, and of course the "petrified goliath" was brought to light. Wide excitement prevailed, and Hull and Newell started charging admission to the thousands who flocked to the scene to view the "eighth wonder of the world".

Nearly everyone accepted the hoax as a real petrification, but others cried fraud.

It was two years before the hoax was exploded, and the "giant" placed in storage, where it remained for 40 years. The Farmers Museum acquired it in 1948, and placed in on exhibition in a pit under a tent.

BUT SHE GOT HER FISH!

Laverna Jane Merrill, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Merrill, 603 Eastern Ave., has discovered that she can catch a fish even though her hook is snagged and the line broken.

Recently while fishing at Rock Bridge her hook stuck fast to a root, and in pulling to release it, she broke the line just above the bobber.

She obtained another hook and line and started fishing, when suddenly the bobber of the snagged line started cutting capers.

Her brother, Jimmie, seizing a pole, succeeded in twisting the line about it, and a large rock bass, which had seized the bait and jerked the hook free, was safely landed.

ANNUAL SUNFLOWERS

I note that those three or four sunflowers growing about a utility pole in front of Ed Fite's store, Court and North Sts., have made rapid growth recently, and the tallest is now over eight feet and still going to town.

For several years Ed has grown sunflowers in the little spot of earth in the sidewalk about the pole, and some of the plants have reached a height of more than 10 feet, producing large blossoms.

As there is little soil for the plant to find a roothold and nourishment, the size they attain is somewhat amazing.

CORNER STONE LAYING

I have before me one of the programs issued when the cornerstone for the Fayette County Courthouse was laid, June 7, 1883.

It is some seven by 4½ inches, with fancy "doodads" in the corners, and I notice at the bottom are the words "Herald Print."

The 75-year-old program follows:

"President of the day, Mayor J. B. Koonz. Meeting will be called to order at 1:30 p. m.

"Music. Prayer by Rev. Geo. Carpenter. Music. Reading list of deposits (in cornerstone) by Prof. C. F. Dean, Music.

"Laying corner stone by the county commissioners, assisted by the architect, D. W. Gibbs, Music. Orator of the day, Hon. M. J. Williams. Music. Volunteer speeches. Music. Benediction, by Rev. T. M. Leslie.

"Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Fourth Regiment Band, of Dayton, Ohio."

The "doodads" in the corners of the program consist of butterflies on sprigs of flowers, a spider web attached to leaves, with spider ready to pounce upon a trapped fly, and the other is a spray of fern and leaves with a dragon fly about to alight on the spray.

Low Quality Wheat Good For Livestock

COLUMBUS — Farmers who have low quality wheat because of continual rains this season may find it economical to feed the grain to livestock, say livestock specialists of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station and the Extension Service.

The specialists suggest the wheat be coarsely ground or cracked, that no more than one week's supply be ground at one time and that animals be started on wheat rations gradually.

FOLLOWING are their specific recommendations for feeding the wheat to various kinds of livestock:

Beef cattle — Up to 25 per cent of the grain mixture can be wheat when beef cattle are on full feed. If more than this amount is fed, problems of palatability, scours, patchy fat and mold may develop.

Swine — As much as 50 per cent of the grain mixture can be wheat, depending on acceptance by the animals. The wheat should be fed cracked or coarsely ground, not finely ground. Feeding the grain whole causes too much waste. Swine ready for market should not be fed wheat, because they may go off feed.

Sheep — Fattening lambs may receive up to 50 per cent wheat in their grain ration. If excessive mold or other spoilage is apparent, feed with caution and use no more than 20 per cent wheat in the ration. If the lambs refuse to eat enough of the ration, drop the wheat content still lower. For ewes, all the grain prior to and after lambing can consist of good quality wheat, but where the wheat is of poor quality, mix it well with other grains and see that it makes up no more than 50 per cent of the grain ration.

Two-Wheel Cart Recalls Carriage-Making History

By B. E. KELLEY

Carl H. Janes, who lives a half mile east of Octa on the Allen Rd., owns a two-wheeled cart that was made 72 years ago—possibly in the Rankin Carriage Shop which formerly was located in West Lancaster or possibly in a shop J. P. Popejoy might have had in Jeffersonville.

The cart, still in excellent condition, apparently was hand-made with the exception of a step on one axle, the whipsocket and springs.

A brass plate on the back of the seat bears the inscription: "Sold by J. P. Popejoy, Jeffersonville, O. 86".

This cart, which Janes has given to the Fayette County Historical Society (and which might well form the nucleus for a Farmers Museum here which would attract wide attention) was originally purchased by Abel H. Janes, grandfather of Carl and later given to Chester Janes, who in turn gave it to Carl, his son.

ABEL JANES, formerly raised running horses and had a private training track on the home farm now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Janes.

The cart was put to practical use for years, being most handy when county roads were in bad condition. It could negotiate some of the "bottomless" highways in its day.

Carl has had it stored in a shed on his premises for some 25 years.

The wheels are 4½ feet in height, with one-inch steel tires. The spokes are staggered in the hubs for added strength. The wooden parts, including the shafts or thills, whiffletree, "basket" and seat, are of hickory and oak.

The whole vehicle reflects expert workmanship, for which the Rankin Carriage Shop at West Lancaster, was noted.

A step is placed just over the left axle so a person could step upon it, and then easily swing over upon the seat with feet in the slat basket, which also was a place where packages were carried when the cart was used for shopping trips.

TWO-WHEELED, light carts were formerly used instead of buggies and carriages when the roads were bad.

Dairy Farmers Optimistic About Future

COLUMBUS — What does the Ohio dairy farmer think about the future of his business?

Ohio State University agricultural economists surveyed about 150 dairymen attending Dairy Day at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station in Wooster last week to get the answer. They asked the dairymen to fill out a questionnaire comparing their present operations with what they expect ten years from now.

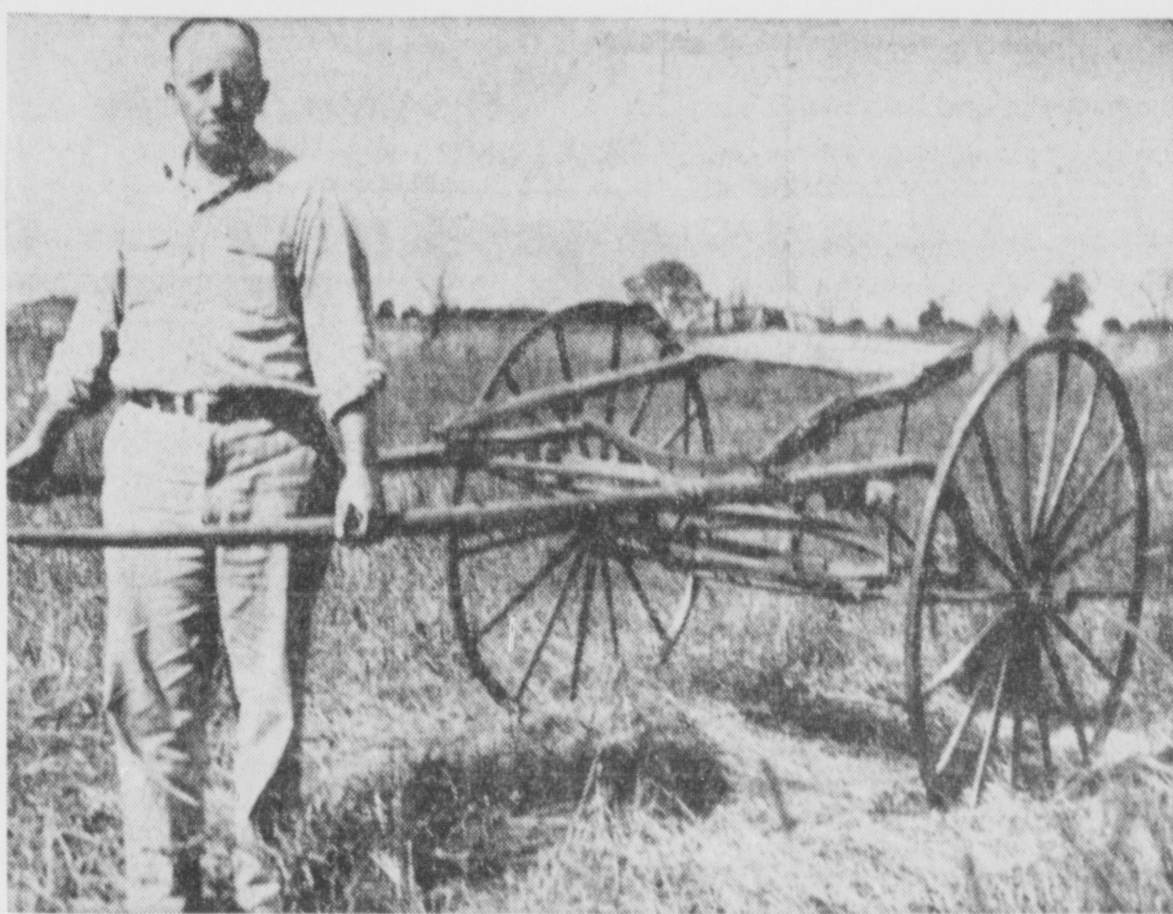

Farmers answering the questionnaire indicated they would increase the number of cows in their herds by 62 per cent and would expect a production increase of 35 per cent per cow.

Forty per cent of the farmers said they now have bulk tanks; 84 per cent indicated they would have bulk tanks in the next ten years.

The dairymen predicted their total farm investment in ten years would be 57 per cent higher than it is now. They expected an increase of 55 per cent in gross income and 51 per cent in net income.

Average herd size of those farmers answering the questionnaire was 31 cows.

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD.

72-YEAR-OLD CART—Carl Janes, Allen Rd., inherited this old vehicle from his father and grandfather and has given it to the Fayette County Historical Society. It was probably built in the Rankin Carriage Shop in West Lancaster in 1886, and is a type of vehicle popular when roads were almost bottomless during wet weather.

there were probably hundreds of carts in Fayette County, but like the buggies and carriages, they have dwindled to a very few and are now museum pieces.

But let's take a look back through the pages of the past and see who J. P. Popejoy was, and also turn the spotlight on the famous Rankin Carriage Shop.

Apparently J. P. Popejoy was a son of Edward Popejoy, who opened the first store in Jeffersonville. The elder Popejoy also had a blacksmith shop.

It is hardly possible that J. P. Popejoy, succeeding his father, made the Janes cart, but the "sold by" notation on the metal plate might have meant that Popejoy had made the cart and sold it.

HOWEVER, I find no information that either Edward Popejoy or J. P. Popejoy made carts and other vehicles, but it is known that the son had a store in what is now the Alvin H. Little building, at the north corner of Main and High Sts. in Jeffersonville. There he sold buggies, carts, carriages, buckboards and wagons.

Turning to the Rankin Carriage Shop as the possible place where the cart was built, I have learned that the Rankin shop was in a two-story frame structure which stood on the road leading north out of West Lancaster, about 300 feet north of Route 35.

It was founded by Thomas Rankin, a great-grandfather of Attorney Richard Rankin of Washington C. H. who was a native of Fayette County.

He was engaged in business in West Lancaster from 1856 until 1873 except for a short time and was a member of Company H, 60th OVI, and was captured at Harper's Ferry, in Sept. 1862. But he escaped and was later taken prisoner at Cynthiana, Ky., while he was captain of Company 8, 68th OVI.

Dill's Fayette County History, published in 1881, states:

"He is now assisting his son, who is a natural mechanic, and does the best work in blacksmithing, wagon-making, painting, and trimming carriages. In fact he is a natural genius, never served an apprenticeship in any trade, and does all the business that the capacity of his shop will permit."

His son was Attorney Leander (Lee) Rankin, who later gave up the shop and turned to practice of law, in which he was very successful.

Ralph Patch, postmaster and store proprietor at Milledgeville, recalls that he used to play about the Rankin shop and that one of its features was a ramp that led from the first floor to the second, so buggies, carts and carriages and even wagons, when completed, could be moved upstairs for painting.

He recalls that the ramp was built so it could be raised and lowered with a windlass so it would be out of the way in the main shop when not in use.

Harry M. Blue, Jefferson Township says that his father, Anderson Blue, formerly of Jasper Township, was a wagon maker for 7 years, and that his father and Lee Rankin invented a machine for producing wooden hubs for buggies, carts, carriages and wagons. It was much in demand at the time.

Bigger Duck Slide at State Fair

COLUMBUS — This year's duck slide at the Ohio State Fair is creating a bigger splash than ever before.

The ducks are bigger and the slide longer, according to Glyde Marsh, Ohio State University extension poultryman.

The antics of the ducklings as they plod up a ramp and slide down a chute into a tank of water have amused fair-going youngsters and grownups alike in recent years.

The slide is only one of several attractions planned by the Agricultural Extension Service and the Ohio Poultry Council. The exhibits are in the west end of the poultry building. One features hens which lay colored eggs. The birds are fed red, blue and green dyes which contain off-flavors and orors.

Purpose of the demonstration is to show that certain flavors and odors in feeds can be carried over into the eggs. Another exhibit shows the various parts of an egg and described the function of each.

THE POULTRY NURSERY is back again this year. It contains baby quail, turkeys, guinea fowl, ducks, partridge and chicks. One exhibit includes an incubator where fair visitors may watch quail hatch. Another features a large duck, turkey, broiler, goose and laying hen. Visitors may guess the weight of these birds and learn unusual facts about them.

Poultry specialists will be stationed at an information desk to answer questions relating to poultry problems and offer tips on poultry barbecuing. A push-button device in another exhibit will enable visitors to county calories in the meat portions of their diets.

Dairy Products Judging Contest At State Fair

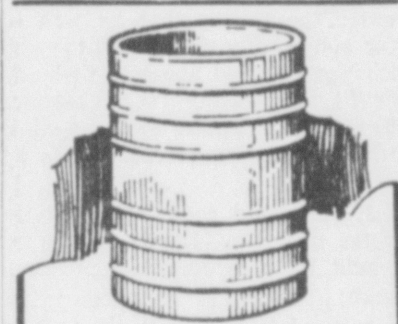

COLUMBUS — A dairy products judging contest will highlight activities in the dairy products building at the Ohio State Fair. Persons competing will judge milk and ice cream.

After the contest the participants will have an opportunity to discuss quality aspects of the projects with official judges, according to Frank Koval, Ohio State University Extension specialist in dairy technology.

The Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the university's department of dairy technology in this educational venture to stimulate interest in quality dairy products.

Another contest will include a display of various dairy products. These products will be judged by experts and prize awarded to winners.

The butter cow, life-size image carved from butter, will be back again this year, and there will be a display showing the various steps in processing milk.

What Is The Term Of A Land Bank Loan?

Loans may be made for terms of 5 to 40 years. The most common terms are 20, 33 and 35 years. The objective is to fix the term of the loan to the debt paying capacity of the borrower and his farm. Renewals are unnecessary.

What Is The Repayment Plan?

A land bank loan is made on an amortization plan. The payments include interest on the unpaid balance and such amounts to be applied on the principle as will pay off the debt within the term for which it is written.

A Fight Which We Dare Not Give Up

Recently we listened in on a conversation in which a Fayette County man, known as being an observing student of general election results, made the statement that the result of the last primary election served as a handwriting on the wall.

He explained that across the country as a whole it was a clearcut victory for liberalism of a rather extreme nature.

This man then continued giving his views to the effect that it is not now a question whether we can halt the rapid inroads of liberalism, with the strong subsequent possibility of out - and - out socialism taking over, but a question of whether we can live with it, or not.

This may sound like a rather radical and somewhat pessimistic viewpoint, but there is considerable food for thought for all thinking citizens in the question raised.

In this connection, quite ironically, it has been pointed out, that those who may be able to live best with socialist government are those who have fought it the hardest. They are the business people who have had to struggle with socialistic red tape, innumerable regulations which at times have seemed very questionable and a huge number of pip - squeak bureaucrats.

This is not as noticeable in localities like Fayette County, as it is in many other places. Most people are used to it. They have been facing it for a long time.

However the average, so - called Liberal, who frequently talks of his views, probably will be among the first to protest if real socialism takes over. Such was the case in Australia during World War II. Observing what happened there made many an American become a conservative when he saw what could happen in this country. Most of the rabid Liberals of today are likely to become just as rabid in opposition to ultra - liberal government once they come under its control.

Many of the people of Australia and also of Great Britain learned to their sorrow that a country that dabbles in socialism learns that it is something you cannot turn off and on easily like a water hydrant.

However those who believe in the type of conservatism in principle on which our nation was founded, and who strongly favor our free enterprise system, realize that they cannot give up the fight. Even though opposition to liberalistic tendencies which at times seem to be approaching socialism, appears like an almost hopeless fight, at least opponents can delay such movement. In this delay there is always hope of a change of heart and a swing away from growing bureaucracy which is the doorway to socialism.

Politics, Race and Religion

By George Sokolsky

It used to be, when Americans really cared, that each citizen voted individually not under racial, religious or color pressures.

The introduction of the term, minority, and its widespread use for political advantages by Franklin D. Roosevelt and his political cohorts, has come to roost in all its ugliness in the enormous vote which Adam Clayton Powell Jr. received in the Democratic primaries in Harlem.

Whatever may be Powell's virtues, he ran strictly as a Negro racist against dominant white political control, and on that issue Harlem responded to his call of "Hey, Rubel!"

The fragmentation of our people along racial, religious, previous nationality and color lines serves only politicians who prefer the rule of divide and get elected.

In the Democratic effort to find a candidate for the United States Senate in New York State, four persons of serious aspects have presented themselves.

Thomas K. Finletter, a liberal, formerly Secretary of the Air Force, is supported by the ADA, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and former Sen. Herbert Lehman.

It is not expected that Finletter will be nominated, although Gov. Averell Harriman has been reported as intimating that he is his first choice. This came in one of those interviews which are without quotation marks.

Diet and Health Does Diet Have Bearing On Cancer Incidence?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

A CONFIRMED cigarette smoker asked me recently whether researchers ever considered the possibility that some foods might be a contributing factor in various types of cancer.

Of course they might have. As a matter of fact, there has been a good deal of investigation of diet in relation to causative factors in cancer.

Diet Studied

Every time it is noted that the population of a particular area has either an unusually high or low rate of cancer, studies are immediately begun into the daily diet of the people. Food preparation also is investigated.

And a high or low incidence of cancer in a specific age group, sex or race generally touches off similar inquiries.

For example, the Northern Chinese have an especially high rate of cancer of the esophagus and cardia of the stomach. A study into the situation resulted in the suggestion that habitual consumption of "pal kan," a strong native drink, might be responsible.

Racial Difference

Cancer of the stomach occurs more than twice as frequently among the Dutch as among the English.

A study of the dietary habits of patients in Dutch and English hospitals determined that the main dietetic differences were that the Dutch ate more vegetables, cheese and bread, especially rye bread, than the British. The English, however, ate more meat.

More of the Dutch patients preferred spiced food and food and drink at higher temperatures. The Dutch also drank more alcohol and used more tobacco.

Chronic Irritation

The researchers, after studying all their data, decided that possibly a higher degree of chronic irritation of the mucous membranes of the stomach might account for the higher incidence of stomach cancer among the Dutch.

Closer to home, a butter yellow dye was discovered to possess carcinogenic properties. It also was found to be toxic. It has not been used in this country for many years.

Research also indicates that there is a definite relationship between Vitamin B deficiencies and development of pre-cancerous conditions.

So you see, we have considered the possible connections between food and cancer, but as yet we haven't come up with any really startling discovery.

Girls Are Told Man Killers Are Seldom Lady Killers

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
Girls who go to dude ranches in search of romance should bear in mind that those picturesque cowboys can be deadly dull in a drawing room.

"Man killers are seldom lady killers," says Dick O'Connor, author of a biography of Bat Masterson, one of the most famous gunfighters of the Old West, whose exploits form the basis of a new television series to be aired this fall.

Dick, an easy-going Irishman who was a newspaperman until he retired to a Maine farm a few months ago to write books, says most of the rosin' tootin' heroes of the cowboys-and-Indians days would be classed as juvenile delinquents today. He picked Bat Masterson as a subject for research because he was an exception to the rule.

"Masterson wasn't just a homicidal maniac like most of the old gunfighters," says O'Connor. "He never killed a man except in self-defense or in connection with his duties as a marshal. He was a romantic figure who had many love affairs before he finally married and settled down. He was something of a Beau Brummel of his day—and besides all that he was a newspaperman."

Masterson, a Kansas farm boy who played the various roles of buffalo hunter, Army scout, U. S. marshal and prizefight promoter, put away his guns to become sports editor of the New York Morning Telegraph from 1903 until his death in 1921. He married a dance-hall girl named Emma Walters in 1891, and they lived happily together for almost 30 years.

"Most of the professional gunfighters of the day simply hated work," O'Connor says. "In a later day their prototypes became gangsters and bootleggers. None of them would cause a heart-throb if caught without their guns."

"Modern women who get bored with their white-collar husbands should bear this in mind. The romance of the Old West wasn't half what it was cracked up to be."

The famed Palace of Fine Arts in Mexico City is known as "the sinking opera house." Built of heavy white marble, it has sunk some 12 feet since it was built in 1934 on Mexico City's soft subsoil, a former lakebed.

GOP's Aerial Caravan Idea Abandoned

Fear of Airplane Crash Said Reason For Dropping Plan

By REED EMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An aerial caravan planned for Republican state candidates late in the fall election campaign apparently won't get off the ground.

Party leaders reportedly abandoned the novel idea after a recent plane crash in New England killed most of the passengers.

They felt the danger of losing the Ohio GOP "team" of veteran office holders and campaigners outweighed the convenience of swift travel between cities in a whirlwind drive for votes before the Nov. 4 election.

Republicans also apparently have lost the effectiveness of national leadership by the state in highway building as a campaign issue.

Gov. C. William O'Neill stressed Ohio's leadership in early campaign speeches, despite criticism by his Democratic opponent, Michael V. DiSalle.

O'Neill, who terms his administration one of building, recently gave his predecessor, Democrat Frank J. Lausche credit for planning much of the construction now under way. Lausche now is a U. S. Senator.

But a state senator may have the last word on that subject. He is Sen. David M. Ferguson (R-Guernsey), a veteran of six terms in the Legislature.

Ferguson asserted that a Democrat - controlled General Assembly during Lausche's administration delayed Ohio's highway program at least four years.

He recalled that in 1949, during Lausche's second term as governor, he introduced in the Senate legislation proposing a popular vote on a 500 million dollar bond issue to speed highway and school construction.

"Lausche's Rules Committee, which was Democratic, refused to let the proposal come out on the Senate floor for a vote, else this highway improvement program could have been very easily four years ahead of where we are now," Ferguson said in a prepared statement.

Ferguson said he issued his statement in answer to criticism by DiSalle that O'Neill is coasting on a highway program initiated under Lausche.

While serving as Senate Highway Committee chairman, Ferguson often complained to Lausche's highway director about traffic bottlenecks on major thoroughfares.

He termed the bottleneck at Bridgeport "the worst east of the Mississippi River." Others listed were in Zanesville, Cambridge, the Lincoln Highway out of East Liverpool and Bucyrus where he said the main highway had five railroad crossings.

"All the Highway Department did throughout all these years," Ferguson said, "was to pick a lot of easy projects, largely in areas where there happened to exist the most votes. These bottlenecks... are the basis of some of the most glaring safety problems in the whole state of Ohio."

Businessmen-Pastor Puts

New Life in Historic Church

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A businessman-pastor is putting new life into the historic Little Church of La Villita, one of the oldest Protestant churches in San Antonio.

In less than two years, the Rev. R. Paul Soupiet has converted it from a sometime evangelistic temple and lodge hall into a city-owned downtown retreat for business people.

The Rev. Mr. Soupiet, a licensed Methodist minister, has been pastor of the Little Church since late in 1956 when he arrived from Houston to manage a women's apparel store.

"The aim of this effort," he says, "is based upon a much needed ministry to those individuals in the market place who for the most part profess no church affiliation."

"We are not establishing a new church but attempting to bolster those that already exist."

Each evening service is attended by people of a variety of denominations. Since it's located only four blocks from the Alamo, the shrine of Texas liberty, many tourists also drop in for prayer or rest.

The Rev. Mr. Soupiet and his assistant, Robert Harmon, a traveling salesman for a metal products firm, serve without pay. The church's expenses and charitable activities are supported by gifts.

The church considers that it was founded in 1844 when the Rev. John Wesley de Vilbis, the first Methodist minister in San Antonio, bought the site and put a bell on the lot.

Each Sunday, he would summon his flock with the bell and then lead them to services in the court house a few blocks away. The present church was not built until 1876.

Twenty years later, it became a Protestant Episcopal school for Negro children and, during World War II, it housed the Red Cross and a men's Bible class.

The city of San Antonio bought the church in 1945 as part of its program for restoring La Villita as a Texas village of frontier days, similar to Virginia's colonial Williamsburg.

Guardsmen Winding Up Summer Training

GRAB YOUR PAPER CLIPS AND CHARGE -- Ohio National Guardsmen from the local area training at Camp Breckinridge, Ky. do their effort to combat their unit's paper war at the summer camp session which closes Sunday. They are M/Sgt. Loring Williams, Route 3, Washington C. H. and Capt. Charles Wimer, 119 W. Oak St.

A GOOD PORTION of the annual two weeks of summer training for National Guardsmen is taken up by classes prior to actual field work. One such class is being taught here by Lt. Dwight Duff, Route 1, Washington C. H. The men are all part of Company M, 166th Regimental Combat Team.

CAMP BRECKINRIDGE, KY.—Approximately 85 Washington C. H. area Ohio National Guardsmen will close their summer camp Sunday.

The Guardsmen have been taking their annual two-week summer training session here. They are members of Company M, 166th Regimental Combat Team.

The Washington C. H. unit is one of the 20 companies that make up the ONG's 166th Regimental Combat Team, 2000-men strong.

With the emphasis on basic combat and individual training, the Guardsmen went to the ranges to qualify in the use of their individual and crewmanned weapons. The training schedule called for the firing of all the automatic weapons used by the regimental combat team — everything from M-1 carbines and rifles to 106 millimeter recoilless rifles and 3.5 inch rocket launchers.

After the citizen-soldiers qualified individually on the ranges, they rejoined their combat crews for other phases of training. When these gun units reached the level of perfection set up by Regular Army advisors, they were incorporated into the squad and platoon operation of the regimental combat team.

THE REGIMENTAL combat team is one of the newer concepts of military warfare which has evolved with the atomic era. Although its companies and batteries are smaller in the amount of men per unit, the fire power of their weapons is greater than that of the units of a conventional military division.

This concept of the regimental combat team also provides for greater mobility of the units which can be dispatched quickly from one point to another in an atomic war. They must be able to disperse quickly in case of atomic attack and then regroup to ward off the aggressor ground forces.

The 166th units were drilled in the operation of these atomic warfare tactics in a four-day bivouac during the second week of their summer training session.

The bivouac was carried out under simulated battle conditions that involved all the basic standards of the infantry operation as foxholes, pup tents and camouflage. With their perimeter defenses under field concealment, "aggressor" aircraft made mock raids on the encamped units.

More "enemy" attackers assaulted the 166th units from the ground. The aggressors harassed them with minor skirmishes and infiltration behind the lines of defense to knock out the 166th's weapons and equipment.

Bomarc Missiles Again Proves Its Interceptor Value

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Bomarc interceptor missile has proved again that it is ready to become a part of the nation's air defense system.

The swift missile roared across the Atlantic Thursday and zeroed in on a pilotless B17 drone bomber at a range of about 250 miles.

The Bomarc was triggered when someone pushed a button at a computer control center in Kingston, N. Y., 1,500 miles away.

It was the third time this month that the Bomarc had been fired successfully within the SAGE air defense system.

SAGE, which stands for Semi-automatic Ground Environment, is composed of a string of radar stations and electronic computers across the country. The system, which went into effect June 27, can spot an enemy air attack and begin retaliation in seconds.

No Career Woman, Says Top Secretary

By GALE TOLIN
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The nation's top secretary says she is a homebody at heart.

Brown-eyed Genevieve Bell, of Portland, Ore., recently named secretary of the year, says firmly: "I am not a career woman!"

She puts first the job of making a home for husband, Keith, a forestry instructor at Portland State College. She adds that there is no reason why marriage and a career cannot be combined, if the woman is careful not to slight either role.

Mrs. Bell has been a secretary for 26 of her 44 years, and considers her job a heaven-appointed task. Says she:

"A secretary should give her best always, with eternal values constantly in view. If she puts Christianity first in her life, all relationships with her co-workers and employer will be right. Instead of being bitter or jealous, she will see the best in other people."

MRS. BELL won her championship title at the convention of the National Secretaries Assn. here. Contest judges put oral questions to the six finalists, who gave their answers onstage, before a crowd of hundreds. Asked to tell the difference between a secretary and a professional secretary, Mrs. Bell said:

"A secretary chews gum. A professional secretary does not."

Quickly turning serious, she added that a secretary may be an "office housekeeper" while a professional secretary has a managerial voice and is the bridge between personnel and management — "the shock absorber."

HOW ABOUT the coffee break?

Is it a good thing or not?

"The coffee break is a problem," Mrs. Bell replied. "A top-level secretary will not take advantage of it. It's a good chance for relaxation but it must not be overdone."

Is her job fun? Does she really enjoy it?

GENEVIEVE BELL: She's 1958 Secretary of the Year.

Sad Sam Jones Sets Strikeout Record of 14

No-Hitter Broken For Cardinal Hurler In Win over Phillies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Everything comes hard for Sad Sam Jones. Even when he wins. Take Friday night. The St. Louis Cardinals gave him some infrequent hitting support and he beat the Philadelphia Phillies 9-1 with a three-hitter.

Trouble is, it might have been Sad Sam's second major league no-hitter. He gave the Phils chills through seven innings. Then came the eighth. Ex-Card Rip Repulski lined a pinch-hit homer. Richie Ashburn doubled. Solly Hemus, another onetime Cardinal, singled. Then Jones went back to work, fanning a pair to get out of the inning and adding another strikeout in the ninth for a total of 14. That's a night game record in the majors.

While the Cardinals were moving back into a fourth place tie with idle Los Angeles in the National League standings, also idle Milwaukee regained a seven-game lead as Cincinnati rapped second place San Francisco 7-3. Pittsburgh beat the Chicago Cubs 8-2.

In the American League, the New York Yankees moved 12½ games ahead once more, taking their second in a row from the second place Chicago White Sox 4-3. Boston defeated Cleveland 8-5. Baltimore beat Detroit 2-1 and Kansas City defeated Washington 1-0 on Ralph Terry's no-hitter.

Sad Sam's 14 strikeouts also matched the one-game high in the majors this season. Detroit's Jim Bunning did it in the AL. Don Cardwell (2-2) lost it.

The Reds bagged it against losing reliever Marv Grissom on Ed Bailey's two-run double. The Giants had five hits, just one after Valmy Thomas' two-run homer built a 3-0 lead in the fourth off starter Joe Nuxhall. Brooks Lawrence, who had lost nine straight won it in relief.

The Pirates won against Marcelino Solis (3-3). Rookie George Witt won his seventh with Vern Law's relief help.

Mickey Mantle, who hit his 36th home run in the first inning, doubled home the clincher in a four-run seventh for the Yankees. Elston Howard and Gil McDougald also homered for the champs, while Sherm Lollar reached his one-season high with his 17th homer for the Sox. Duke Maas (7-8) won it with two innings of hitless relief after Chicago tagged Johnny Kucks for two runs and a 4-3 lead in the sixth. Early Wynn (10-13), was the loser and now is 0-5 against New York for the year. It was Early's 200th loss in the majors. He's won 245, tops among active pitchers.

Ike Delock won his 12th for the Red Sox, giving up 10 hits, one Rocky Colavito's 29th home run. Frank Malzone hit his 12th homer for the Red Sox, then brought in the winning run with an eighth-inning double off Hoyt Wilhelm (2-7), who lost his sixth in a row. Gene Woodling's lead-off home run won it for the Orioles in the sixth against Jim Bunning (9-8).

Indians Hope McLish To Aid In Revival

BOSTON (AP) — Cleveland's slumping Indians sent Cal McLish to the mound today in an attempt to end a three-game losing streak. In their last 13 games, the Tribe have won only two.

Friday, Ike Delock posted his 12th victory of the year for the Boston Red Sox. He scattered 10 Indians hits and the Red Sox won 4-3.

Two of the four Red Sox runs were knocked in by Frank Malzone. The third baseman hit his 12th home run of the year in the fourth inning. He sent the winning run home in the eighth with a single.

Rocky Colavito gave the Indians some hope in the ninth when he homered. But Delock got the next three Indians on a grounder, a foul ball and a strike out.

Hoyt Wilhelm pitched all the way for Cleveland. He has now lost seven and won two.

Jackie Jensen got the Red Sox off to an early lead in the second when he doubled. Dick Gernert slammed a Wilhelm offering through the middle for a single, scoring Jensen.

The Indians bounced back in the third when Billy Moran singled through and Dick Brown raced home from second.

The Tribe took a 2-1 lead in the fourth, scoring a run on singles by Minnie Minoso, Colavito and Randy Jackson.

But Malzone opened the Red Sox fourth with his home run. Jim Piersall, on base by way of a fielder's choice, stole second and came home with Boston's third run.

Malzone rifled a single into center in the eighth to score Pete Runnels with the winning run. Runnels had doubled.

Colavito got his 29th homer of the year in the ninth, but the Indians failed to score after that.

Good Hope Trims Burg Babe Ruthers

GOOD HOPE — Team play paid off as Good Hope triumphed over Bloomingburg, 6 to 3, in a Babe Ruth League contest Friday night.

Frock's bat connected for three hits as he paced the Good Hope squad at the plate. One of his hits, a homer, was the hardest ball hit at Good Hope in many a day.

Mike Reisinger hurled excellent ball, allowing Bloomingburg only two hits, one to Ayers and one to R. Evans. Smith was the losing pitcher.

Frankfort Gridders Look Good to Coach

FRANKFORT — Head Coach Ralph Bostic is optimistic over the chances of his Frankfort Bobcats repeating as Mid-State League champions.

Last year's team tied Berne Union for the title, a team they beat during the season by a 13-12 margin. The opening line-up will be heavier than last season, but several key players from the team last year have graduated.

Dave Larimer is the new backfield coach. He spent the last three years coaching at Ansonia High School. Heading this year's list of returning lettermen are co-captains Don Roll, at end, and Gary Henness at half back.

The team plays host at Ashville, Paint Valley and Amanda in the annual preview game on Sept. 5. Regular season play opens on Sept. 12 against Greenville.

Other teams scheduled at Mt. Sterling, Canal Winchester, Millersport, Amanda, Bremen, Carroll, Liberty Union and Berne Union.

Lawrence OK As Reliever For Redlegs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Brooks Lawrence seems to have lost the stamina that made him a starting pitcher for the Cincinnati Redlegs, but he may have finally got the hang of being a reliever.

Friday night he took over in the seventh inning and held San Francisco's Giants to one hit while the Reds went on an eighth inning spree, clinching a 7-3 victory.

Before this victory, Lawrence had lost nine games in a row since July 2.

Lawrence took over for southpaw Joe Nuxhall who was lifted for a pinch-hitter.

And Lawrence's teammates obliged with a five-run eighth inning touched off by Jerry Lynch's triple. First baseman George Crowe singled him home, tying the score, 3-3. After Frankie Robinson doubled, catcher Ed Bailey rammed a double to right, scoring two runs.

Gus Bell reached first safely on a fielder's choice, took second on a routine putout that scored Bailey and scored himself when Lawrence hit what looked like a single. But the pitcher had failed to touch first base and was nabbed. Eddie Miksis hit into a putout to end the uprising.

The Reds hadn't started scoring until the seventh inning when singles by Bailey, Alex Grammas and pinch hitter Bob Thurman brought in one run. Grammas scored on an error by Danny O'Connell.

Willie Mays' walk and Hank Bauer's double brought in the first Giant run in the first inning. In the fourth, Daryl Spencer singled and Frank Thomas banged a home run.

Bob Purkey, who had trouble at the start of this five game series earlier in the week, is slated to try his hand again today, opposing Roman Montant.

Cowboys Defeat Realtors, 10-3

The Cowboys banged out 11 hits enroute to a 10 to 3 win over the Realtors in the only Little Major League game Friday night at Wilson Field.

Molloy paced the Cowboy hitters with three for three. One of his was a long blast over the fence for a home run.

The Realtors picked up four safeties, three of them by the first baseman, Brandon, Mickle collected the other hit.

Molloy was the winning hurler and Thomas was charged with the loss.

Lions Erase Nasty Rumors By Clipping Browns 17-7

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Coach George Wilson told his Detroit Lions it was time to wipe out a couple of nasty rumors. His National Football League champions responded by knocking over the Cleveland Browns 17-7 in a pre-season exhibition game at Detroit Friday night.

The victory helped the Lions forget last week's 35-19 drubbing at the hands of the College All-Stars. It also kept intact the team's record of never having lost to the Browns on home grounds.

On the West Coast, the Los Angeles Rams capitalized on Billy Wade's passing and a tough defense and defeated the New York Giants, 38-10, in a pre-season set to at Los Angeles' Memorial Coliseum.

Wilson, starting his second season as head coach of Detroit, said he didn't make a speech to his players before the game. "I merely told them everybody has been saying we look lousy in camp, and we looked lousy against the college boys," he said. "It was time they proved a little something to themselves and to everybody else."

If there was one thing the victory proved, it was that quarterback Bobby Layne is ready for his 11th season of professional football.

Layne, whose career was jeopardized by a broken ankle suffered last December against the same Browns, directed the Detroit team to its only long scoring march. It covered 80 yards in 11 plays and the former Texas star passed for more than half the yardage.

The Rams, in posting their second straight exhibition victory, had to come from behind.

Ben Agajanian's 28-yard field goal put the Giants out in front in the opening quarter.

But Wade shot the Los Angeles team out in front to stay with two touchdown passes in the second quarter. He hit Jon Arnett on the goal line with a 35-yard strike and then fired a 39-yard touchdown pass to Del Shofner.

Lions' Kicking Shows Promise

Two-a-Day Drills Slated Next Week

Washington High's first kicking practice Friday showed there will be depth in the punting and kick-off departments this fall.

Line Coach Marvin Merritt who had Terry Stillings, Gil Crouse and Bob Huff batting the ball said they produced several long ones. Several punts would have gone for 40-yards in a regular contest.

Head Coach Fred Domenico put the team to work under game conditions after the first two days of practice had been devoted to individual instruction. The squad is coming along as well as can be expected in the first three days of practice, he commented.

THE MORNING SESSION was slow, but the team perked up in afternoon drills that saw the entire squad in a 60-minute tackle rehearsal.

Domenico stresses tackling as the basic element in winning football.

Mike Chakeres continued to show good potential. Domenico said, Jim Landrum is another sophomore who impresses the head coach. Junior Bob Huff is the most likely candidate to handle the defensive signal calling. He worked in that position last year. Jerry Sheppard, 130-pounds, carries a terrific walk-in tackling. Domenico observed.

After going through two drills Saturday the team will have Sunday off, but one Monday the team will report at 8 a. m. for their last week of two-a-day practice sessions before school starts.

2-Way Tie Possible In Little Majors

There could be a two-way tie for first place in the Little Major League's second round of play. The season will end next week.

The Flashes are currently in first place with only one loss. Right behind them are the Realtors with two losses.

The Flashes and Realtors tangle Saturday night. If the Realtors win, there will be a tie.

To add to the confusion, the Flashes also have a game remaining with the Cubs, which could have some bearing on the standings.

The Flashes won the first round of play.

Turner Demands Shot at Champion

NEW YORK (AP)—Gil Turner had his first victory of the year today—a decision over Stefan Redl—and his manager already was hollering for a title shot with welterweight champion Virgil Akins.

"We'd draw a zillion in Philadelphia," said manager George Katz. "Remember, Gil is the last fighter to beat Akins. He did it easy in Atlantic City, Sept. 18, 1957."

That was the 27-year-old Turner's last victory until he whipped Redl by unanimous decision in their 10-round at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

But win or lose, the ever-pressing Philadelphia contender gives the fans a good show.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

U. S. Aid Offered To Hardin Area

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Hard hit farmers whose crops have been heavily damaged by rains in the McGuffey Marsh area of Hardin County can go to the Federal Farm Home Administration for help, says Gov. C. William O'Neill.

O'Neill appealed to President Eisenhower last week to declare the marsh district a disaster area. The appeal was made after an emergency agriculture committee reported that great damage was done to crops in the area by recent heavy rains.

O'Neill received a wire Friday from Sherman Adams, assistant to President Eisenhower, pointing out that the type of relief necessary could better be obtained through the farm home administration than by declaring the marsh a disaster area.

Miss Ohio Proud Of Her 'Calves'

COLUMBUS (AP)—Shapely Miss Ohio, who helped open the Ohio Fair Friday, is proud of her calves (Hereford). They are helping her through the Ohio State University School of Nursing.

Miss Ohio is Peggy Putnam, 19, of near Ada in Hardin County. She has shown her livestock many times at Hardin County and Ohio State Fairs. Sale of the animals helps pay her tuition.

She is Ohio's entry in the Miss America contest opening soon in Atlantic City.

Land and Sea Parades Set For Nautilus

NEW YORK (AP)—Parades on land and sea will be part of New York City's three-day welcome next week to the atomic submarine Nautilus.

Water-spouting fireboats, destroyer escorts, cutters and private craft will greet the Nautilus when she arrives at the Narrows Monday from Portland, England.

Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, known as the father of the nuclear powered craft and President Eisenhower's personal representative at the arrival ceremonies, will board the Nautilus from a tugboat.

The submarine's marine march will take it up the Hudson River to 42nd Street. There the craft will swing back, round the lower tip of Manhattan and dock at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

All ferry lines have been told by the Coast Guard not to cross the river during the maritime march. At the Yard, Cmdr. William Anderson and his crew, first men to cross under the arctic icepack, will be reunited with their families.

The reunions will continue on Tuesday. The next day—officially US Nautilus Day in New York—the Nautilus' personnel will be greeted to Mayor Robert F. Wagner at City Hall after a ticker tape parade along lower Broadway.

Wagner will present medals and scrolls to Anderson and Rickover at a luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Labor Asks Dems To Fight Union Curbs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio AFL-CIO has asked the Democratic Party in Ohio to take a strong stand against the anti-union shop proposal during the coming election campaign.

The union made its recommendation Friday during public hearings at state Democratic headquarters. A Democratic platform subcommittee has been holding the hearings for two days to give party members a chance to submit proposals they think will help their candidates into office. The proposals will be studied for submission to the Democratic state convention here Sept. 5-6.

Elmer F. Cope, Ohio AFL-CIO secretary treasurer, submitted these planks for consideration of the committee:

"We oppose the so-called 'right-to-work' proposal as being unwarranted interference by government in free collective bargaining. We believe it would adversely affect the economic well being of Ohioans.

"We favor the prompt payment of supplemental unemployment benefits in accordance with contracts negotiated by industry and labor. We urge the payment of these funds without further delay in order to improve economic conditions in Ohio.

"We favor bringing employment compensation weekly benefits up to a level of 75 per cent of the average weekly wages and further support the permanent adoption of the increase in duration as enacted by the recent General Assembly.

"We advocate enactment of a state minimum wage law with a reasonable base.
